PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING DECLARATION

Declaration on the processing of personal data in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and the protection of data subjects ("GDPR").

1. Personal data controller

The controller of your personal data is the company Vesna Tattoo Prague, Máchova 439/27, 120 00 Vinohrady, (hereinafter referred to as the "controller"), which hereby informs you about the processing of your personal data and your rights in accordance with Article 12 of the GDPR.

When processing personal data, we respect the principle of personal data protection and adhere to the following principles: we process personal data for a clear and comprehensible purpose, by the means and in the manner specified, only for the time that is necessary. We collect personal data of our clients and employees only to the necessary extent and do not sell it to third parties, except those who have directly participated in the company's processes for the purpose of their necessary work. Collaborators (employees, subcontractors) are required to subscribe to the data controller's personal data processing policy and undergo regular training.

2. Scope of personal data processing

Personal data are processed to the extent that the relevant data subject has provided them to the controller, in conjunction with the conclusion of a contractual or other legal agreement with the controller, for reasons of legitimate interest, or which the controller has otherwise collected and processes them in accordance with applicable law or to fulfill the controller's legal obligations.

3. Sources of personal data

- directly from the data subject (registration, questionnaires, contracts, declarations, web contact forms and chat, emails, telephone, website, business cards, etc.)
- publicly accessible registers, lists and records (e.g. commercial register, register of companies, cadastre of real estate, etc.)
- automated recording of electronic communication and on the basis of Act 127/2005 Coll. and Decree 357/2012 Coll.

4. Categories of personal data to be processed

- address and identification data used to uniquely and unmistakably identify the data subject (e.g. name, surname, job title, etc. birth number, date of birth, permanent address, IC, DIC, photo) and data enabling contact with the data subject (contact details - e.g. contact address, telephone number, fax number, e-mail address and other similar information)
- IP addresses, telephone numbers and other operational and location data received as a result of the operation of services and collected for reasons of legal obligation
- IP addresses and other traffic and location data to the extent necessary to maintain quality of service
- descriptive data (e.g. bank details)
- other data necessary for the execution of the contract

The logo for Vesna, featuring the word "Vesna" in a bold, stylized, black font. The letter 'V' is particularly large and has a unique, slightly irregular shape. The letters 'e', 's', 'n', and 'a' are smaller and more standard, following the 'V'. The overall style is modern and graphic.

- data provided outside the relevant laws and processed under the consent of the data subject (processing of photos, use of personal data for the purpose of personnel risks, etc.)

5. Purpose of personal data processing

- purposes occupied within the scope of the data subject's consent
- negotiation of contractual relationships
- the execution of the contract
- protection of rights of the controller, recipient or other interested parties (e.g. recovery of controller's claims)
- archiving carried out on the basis of the law
- recruitment procedures for vacant positions
- compliance of the trustee with legal obligations

6. Method of processing and protection of personal data

The processing of personal data is carried out by the controller. The processing is carried out at the controller's premises, branches and headquarters by individual authorised employees of the controller, or by the controller's employees or by the processor. The processing is carried out by means of computer technology, or even manually for personal data in paper form, in compliance with all security principles for the administration and processing of personal data.

All entities to which personal data may be disclosed respect the data subjects' right to privacy and are obliged to comply with the applicable legal provisions relating to the protection of personal data.

7. Period of processing of personal data

In accordance with the obligations specified in the relevant contracts, in the administrator's order for files and disposal and in the relevant legal regulations, this is the time necessary to ensure the rights and obligations arising from the contractual relationship as well as from the relevant legal regulations.

As a rule, personal data are processed in full only during the term of the contract, and after its expiration, the data are processed only within the legal framework.

Personal data are stored for a maximum period of 10 years from the last contractual relationship with the understanding that it is used primarily to improve the quality of the legal services provided and for advertising purposes.

8. Disclosure of personal data to others

Your personal data will be made available by the Administrator to others only to the usual extent and only to processors and other recipients, typically suppliers of external services, in compliance with all the principles of the GDPR. Furthermore, personal data may be disclosed to the extent necessary to legal, economic and tax advisors. Upon request or in the event of suspicion of an illegal act, personal data may also be handed over to public administration authorities.

9. Legal basis for processing

The controller processes data with the consent of the data subject, except in cases provided by law where the processing of personal data does not require the consent of the data subject. In accordance with Art. 6(1) GDPR, the controller may process the data without the consent of the data subject:

- the data subject has given consent for one or more specific purposes,
- the processing is required to fulfill the contract to which the data subject is a party or for the implementation of a measure taken before the conclusion of the contract at the request of the data subject,
- the processing is necessary to fulfill the legal obligation to which the controller is subject,
- the processing is necessary for the protection of the vital interests of the data subject or another natural person,
- the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the performance of public authority entrusted to the controller,
- the processing is necessary to meet the legitimate interests of the controller or third party, unless these interests overlap with the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject, requiring the protection of personal data.

11. Rights of data subjects

The data subject has the following rights under the GDPR:

- request access to personal data processed by the controller, i.e. to obtain information from the controller on whether personal data concerning him/her are processed. In this case, the data subject has the right to obtain access to this data and to the other information referred to in Article 15 of the GDPR,
- request the amendment or completion of the personal data processed by the controller if they are inaccurate (Art. 16 GDPR),
- request the deletion of personal data in the cases provided for in Article 17 of the GDPR,
- request the restriction of data processing in the cases provided for in Article 18 of the GDPR,
- obtain those personal data concerning him/her which are processed with his/her consent or which are processed for the execution of the contract or for the implementation of measures taken before the conclusion of the contract,
- to obtain these personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format, with the right to transmit these data to another controller, under the conditions and with the limitations set out in Article 20 of the GDPR,
- have the right to object to processing in accordance with art. 21 GDPR,
- the right to complain to a data protection supervisory authority - the data subject has the right to submit a complaint and an alleged violation of a general regulation to a data protection supervisory authority, in particular in the Member State of habitual residence or workplace.

We will inform the contracting authority immediately of the acceptance of each request according to the above points and without undue delay, at the latest within 1 month, we will provide the requested information or information on the measures taken.

This period can be extended by two more months if necessary and taking into account the complexity and number of applications. In some specific cases defined in the GDPR, we are not obliged to comply with all or part of the request.

This will be the case in particular if the request is manifestly unfounded or unjustified, especially because it is repetitive. In such cases, we may impose a reasonable fee taking into account the administrative costs associated with providing the requested information or refuse the request. The applicant will always be informed.

If we have reasonable doubts about the identity of the contracting authority on providing the information, we may ask the contracting authority to provide additional information necessary to confirm its identity. We will keep information on the exercise of data subject's rights for a reasonable period (typically 3 years) in order to record and document this fact, for statistical purposes, to improve our services and to protect our rights.

If the data subject considers that his or her personal data are being processed illegally or that his or her rights are otherwise being violated, he or she has the right to submit a complaint to the supervisory authority.

12. Right to object

If the legal basis for the processing of personal data is a so-called legitimate interest, the subject has the right to object to such processing of personal data at any time. In this case, the processing of personal data is terminated, unless there are compelling legitimate grounds for processing that override the interests of the subject or his/her rights and freedoms, or if the processing is necessary to establish, implement or protect legal claims. The data subject may object to the processing using the contact details provided below. In the e-mail, please indicate the specific situation that leads you to the conclusion that the Controller should not process your data. In the case of data processing for primary marketing purposes, it is always possible to object without further substantiation.
